Committed Manufacturing.

Sweatshop Free:

American Apparel clothing is made and manufactured by the highest paid garment workers in the world. They don't just have jobs – they have careers. Our workers earn in a week what their overseas counterparts earn in a month. While most clothing manufacturers were moving production offshore in the early 2000s, we were committed to making our products in America and supporting our local economy.

Social Commitment:

Everyone should be entitled to equal opportunity and freedom of expression, and we frequently use our resources (advertising, digital outreach, press, products and more) to support these ideals. Our largest causes are immigration reform and LGBT rights and equality.

Vertical Integration:

Our 1.5 million square feet of factory space in greater Los Angeles is an anomaly in the industry. Manufacturing employees, designers, IT, finance, marketing and retail collaborate collectively under one roof. By integrating these processes, we're able to respond to our customers with quick turnaround times. We have the capacity to produce 1 million units of clothing a week.

Environmental Commitment:

All of our supplies – from fabric to boxes to pallets – are reused until they're no longer functional. Then they are sold or shipped out with our recycling. We recycle over 125,000 pounds of textile waste and 25,000 pounds of paper, plastic and cardboard waste per week.
